WHO WE SERVE

We strongly believe that every educator has the power to create racially equitable learning environments for children.

CITY/COMMUNITY

Dallas, Texas
New York, New York

COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT & ECONOMIC EMPOWERMENT SERVICES

At the Center for Racial Justice in Education, we believe that racial justice work is a journey, requiring an on-going commitment to racial justice education, self-reflection and community engagement.

• We commit to building communities that are grounded in fierce solidarity and courageous vulnerability, and that acknowledge our individual and collective power.

• We are bold in our dialogue, authentic in our connection and unapologetic in our love for humanity as we create community while dismantling white supremacy.

CENTER FOR RACIAL JUSTICE IN EDUCATION & THE RACIAL WEALTH DIVIDE

The Center for Racial Justice recognizes that education is an essential asset for the development of any community. We are developing a racial equity analysis of education that we believe will strengthen educational opportunity for students of color.

ORGANIZATIONAL IMPACT

Since launching our Dallas-Fort Worth office in 2016, our team has trained over 4,500 educators within the DFW area. We equip educators with the necessary support to build culture, practices and policies rooted in racial justice. Our post-training evaluation process seeks to understand to what degree our training increases educators’ ability to engage in racial equity work collaboratively. Based on past participant evaluations, the majority of our participants have felt more prepared to:

• Initiate conversations about race with students.
• Answer students’ questions about race.
• Turn racial incidents into “teachable race moments.” Over 90% of participants have rated the training as “Excellent” or “Very Good.”